

Solomon Wong is responsible for the security, borders and planning practice for InterVISTAS. Based in the Vancouver office, he oversees a number of projects for clients in border and transportation security - in quality evaluation, regulatory review, policy development, as well as strategic planning.

From 2000-02, Mr. Wong helped to author the "Perimeter Clearance Strategy" - a coordinated roadmap to border improvements submitted to both the Smart Borders Action Plan and Security & Prosperity Partnership processes. Most recently, Mr. Wong has assisted in implementation of major changes through advancing the planning of US Customs and Border Protection facilities, measuring the performance of the Canadian Air Transport Security Authority, and looking at issues of equivalency of security processes in Europe, the U.S. and Canada.
